Swink Style Bar = Uh-mazing

SO, you can probably tell from my blog posts that I've been a little busy with the holidays. I took 2 1/2 weeks off for Christmas and New Years! Can you believe it? It was so rejuvenating to get a break from the busy life as a single, busy mompreneur. This year has been a chaotic one for me which is both good, bad and indifferent. But I'm headed into 2012 with an optimistic attitude and an eagerness to move forward. I should mention as the year closes out that the title "Million Dollar" Mompreneur still fits since 2011 was rocking for Thrive! 😊

Anyhow... I took some much needed "me time" as I was kicking off my vacation by heading to my new favorite spot Swink Style Bar. Swink is the first style bar to hit Seattle. They're home of the quick, affordable beauty blast. Like blow outs, lash extensions, makeup, & bridal packages. It was started by some super power chicks formerly working at the top of Getty Images, Nordstrom and Starbucks. Read their personal stories here. These ladies were leading the pack in Corporate America before they created the best. idea. ever. SWINK!

Had a blast on Thursday with Dr. David Stephens, his team and the Girl Power Hour crew at Swink Style Bar at U Village!
